Israeli Troops Attack Egyptian Border Fortress

Report 10 Soldiers Killed, 24 Captured

First Border Flareup Since Arabs Received Red Arms

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli troops attacked an Egyptian border fortress today, killing 10 Egyptian soldiers and capturing about 24, the Israeli army reported.

Egyptians manning the fortress at El Kuntilla offered no resistance, the Israeli army reported, and the raid took only 23 minutes. It was the first big border flare-up since Communist arms reached the Arabs.

Israeli army officials said the raiding party was ordered to "capture the fortress and take prisoners, but do no more."

The Israeli troops penetrated four miles to the desert outpost at 1 a. m. (5 p. m. Thursday CST), the Israeli army said. Two hours later the raiders were back across the border, reaching their base well before dawn, the army added. An Israeli spokesman said the army and booty the troops carried away "were all we could carry with the help of our prisoners."

In announcing the "retaliatory" action, Israeli officials warned "if they want us to leave them alone, let them leave us alone."

An Egyptian spokesman said "we reoccupied El Kuntilla post and killed four Israelis." The Egyptian armed forces high command was summoned to an emergency conference.

News of the raid burst over the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Geneva where action against Communist arms shipments to the Arab nations was under discussion.

El Kuntilla is five miles across the border between Israel's Negev Desert and Egypt's Sinai Desert and about midway between the Aqaba demilitarized zone to the north and the Israeli port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba to the south.

An Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said the raid was launched to emphasize what "should have been clear" to Egypt, that attack would be met with counterattack.

Neutral sources in Cairo predicted that increased border activity would speed Egyptian efforts to get new shipments of Czech arms purchased in a recent trade deal to the frontier as soon as possible.

Heat Forces Back Rescue Teams From Mine Blaze

WALTONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Mounting heat kept rescue teams from advancing closer to a 17-day underground fire in the Freeman Coal Company's mine No. 3 today.

The latest rescue team, composed of men from Springfield and Beul, got to within about 300 feet of the fire Thursday. But the heat became so intense they had to back out.

State mining officials, asked how much fire was still in the mine, answered, "that's the $64 question. We encountered a hell of a lot of heat—more than we expected."

Four truckloads of CO₂ will be injected into the fire in an attempt to quench the flames, the officials said, and new efforts to penetrate the fire area will be made early next week.

One hundred men were in the mine when the fire broke out Oct. 11, but all got out safely.

Peaceful A-Energy Will Remake Universe, Rep. Van Zandt Says

Delivers Fascinating Address Here at Dinner Club Meeting

The tremendous possibilities of the peacetime use of atomic energy was the fascinating subject of an address by Congressman James E. Van Zandt at a meeting of the Southern Illinois Dinner Club last night at the Kurto Country club.

Congressman Van Zandt, from Altoona, Pa., a veteran of World Wars I and II, is an active member of the Congressional Atomic Energy committee since it was first established and is well informed on both the military and peacetime aspects of atomic energy.

Atomic energy will remake the universe in time to come, Rep. Van Zandt stated. He described a trip he made with the committee aboard the atomic submarine, the Nautilus, when it was commissioned and the benefits to come from atomic

Faure Wins Vote Of Confidence To Avert Crisis

PARIS (AP)—The French government won a vote of confidence today, thus saving France and its Western allies from a major international crisis.

The vote was 271 to 259. Premier Edgar Faure staked the life of his cabinet and France's formal participation in the Big Four ministers conference in Geneva on the vote and won.

The vote was considered so crucial that Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay flew here from Geneva to plead with the divided deputies to avoid plunging France into crisis at this time.

The vote was on general government policies, provoked by a Socialist Party charge the Faure government was incompetent to handle the crucial issues facing it in Europe and North Africa.

The drama of the vote was underlined by the surprise presence on the chamber floor of ailing Communist Chief Maurice Thorez, who limped out of his isolation to be in on the possible kill.

As far as deputies could remember it was the first time the 55-year-old Communist boss has taken his seat since he was felled by a stroke in 1950 and carried off to Moscow in a plane for a 30-month "cure."

The pug-nosed ex-coal miner limped in on the arm of a burly comrade just before Faure took the rostrum for a last-minute defense of his government.

It appeared plain that Faure was on his way out—if not now, after Geneva. There was no doubt about the threat the confidence test carried for the Big Four talks. Pinay told newsmen in Geneva he would not return if Faure is overthrown.

energy which were explained to representatives of 72 nations of the world at Geneva. These benefits, he said, staggered the imagination of the underprivileged nations, but it also was found out there that Russia knows as much about atomic energy as we do and is planning even more expansion of atomic energy in future years.

New Standard of Living

The underprivileged areas of the world will see a new standard of living under atomic energy, Rep. Van Zandt said. Today the U. S. is offering reactors to friendly nations, will pay half the cost and will furnish the know-how to operate it.

He told of the atomic energy power plants which are being built and stated the army has been authorized to build small A-plants in the growth of cancer and in the future years there will be a complete cure.

He described the field of medicine where radiation is being used to attack cancer, and told how radiation from huge atomic piles is channeled to the malignancy and how there has been an arrest made in the growth of cancer and in the future years there will be a complete cure.

Atomic X-Ray Machines

He also told how radiation is being used to combat other diseases and the extensive medical uses possible from radiation from atomic energy.

He described atomic x-ray machines, which weigh 20 pounds, operated from uranium the size of a lead pencil eraser. The machines now cost $50,000 but in the future will be made available for doctors to carry with their regular medical case and they will be able to make x-ray pictures within minutes right on the spot.

Peacetime benefits of atomic energy, he said, also will benefit agriculture where plantlife will be resistant to diseases and bugs and seeds will be available in the future. Sterilized food is also being produced, he said, whereby meats,

Salvation Army Fund Drive to Close Tomorrow

The Salvation Army campaign will close Saturday, John W. Biggers, chairman, announced today. The drive to date has brought in $4,250 cash contributions, and $700 in merchandise.

Although the fund drive will close formally tomorrow, Biggers urges anyone who has not contributed, but who still wish to do so, to call or send their contribution to Lt. Andrew Sands, care of the Salvation Army, Tel. 871. A complete report on returns will be made next week after the drive is completely closed.

Additional larger contributions are $26 from Harrisburg Township high school teachers, $25 from Dr. G. B. Hart and CIPS, and $20 from Mrs. Zola Young Sloan.

Peoria Man Named Sup't of State Parks, Memorials

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—William R. Allen, 60, Peoria, Thursday was named superintendent of state parks and memorials replacing Robert G. Miley.

Miley resigned to become Illinois Supreme Court marshal. Gov. William G. Stratton announced Allen's appointment.

Allen has been executive assistant in the parks and memorials division since 1953. Stratton said Miley, Saline County Republican chairman and president of the Illinois Association of Republican County Chairmen, is expected "to retire from all active politics" in his new job.

Stratton to Look Into State Police Incident

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton Thursday gave a state Sheriff's Assn. official the "impression" he will look into a complaint that state police passed by a fatal accident on their way to a gambling raid.

But State Police Supt. Phil M. Brown said there was no basis for the complaint. Elmer Hoffman, secretary of the Illinois Sheriff's Assn., saw Stratton about a complaint sent him by Williamson County Sheriff Carl Miller.

Miller said state police failed to stop at the scene of an automobile accident Oct. 16 because they were on their way to a gambling raid near Marion.

Hoffman said the governor did not appear to know about the incident but that "I got the impression that he was going to look into it."

Brown said a state police car did pass the scene of the accident, but he said the state police car already had radioed for an ambulance to come to the scene.

And he said another state police car, not in on the raid, was quickly dispatched to the accident scene.

Brown said there was very little delay in getting a state police car to the accident.

Miller claimed the delay was 50 minutes. The offering of money will meet emergency needs in West Africa, among the Arabs in Palestine, and the mountain villages of Greece and Austria. The homes in the mountains are often huts made out of packing crates and cartons, mostly from America.

Will Be Crowned At HTHS Tonight Following Grid Game

BULLETIN

The Homecoming parade, scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed 24 hours, until 3:30 p. m. Saturday. At 2:30 p. m. today it had not been decided to postpone the game as the Wood River team had not yet arrived.

Her majesty, Miss Beverly Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bishop, will be crowned queen of the homecoming tonight at 10:30 in Bonnell Gym following the football game between the Harrisburg Bull Dogs and the Wood River Oilers.

It was announced last night at the bonfire and pep rally held at Taylor Field that Miss Bishop had been chosen to reign as homecoming queen from four senior girls who were candidates. They were Jane Lasersohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lasersohn, Beverly Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carpenter, and Pat Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Foster.

Queen attendants are: junior, Pat Hodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson; sophomore, Pat Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Schwartz; and freshman, Linda Skaggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. McDonald.

Last night's pre-game pep rally began with a snake dance at the court house and continued to Taylor Field where a large bonfire was built.

Following a short talk by the principal, E. F. Henson, Coach Lawrence Caluffetti introduced the football players. Gene Bland, assistant coach, also spoke a few words to the group.

John Schork introduced the queen candidates and attendants after which he announced that Miss Bishop had been chosen as queen by the football squad.

World Community Day Observance to Stress Need for Food, Clothing

By Miss Bess Pemberton

"Are starving people a part of God's plan? No. He depends on the help of man."

World Community Day, which will be observed Thursday, Nov. 3, at 7 p. m. at Wesley Center, reminds us that we still have the victims of war and revolution.

Many can never again be self supporting. As the women of Harrisburg turn from their well-filled refrigerators and deep freezers, they may remember that half the world still goes to bed hungry—hungry in body and soul.

On this World Community Day men's clothing is the dire need. In Europe young lads are constant fleeing from behind the iron curtain with only the meager clothing they wear in Pakistan, India, Okinawa and Korea. The need is great. The clothing for men and boys of sixteen should include suits, overcoats, yardage of denim and sheeting. The women can make trousers from three yards of material. Children's clothing too is always acceptable.

The offering of money will meet emergency needs in West Africa, among the Arabs in Palestine, and the mountain villages of Greece and Austria. The homes in the mountains are often huts made out of packing crates and cartons, mostly from America.

Sen. Carlson Says More and More Republicans Want Ike to Run Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kans.) said today he is finding "more and more" Republicans remaining hope that President Eisenhower will seek a second term despite his heart attack.

Long a close friend of the President, Carlson was one of his earliest backers for the 1952 Republican nomination.

"As the President's health improves," he told a reporter, "I find during my travels that more and more people are hopeful that the President will be able to run again."

Carlson declined to make any predictions, however, or to indicate that he had any knowledge of Mr. Eisenhower's intentions. He did make it clear that he thinks Mr. Eisenhower will be a sure thing if he should seek re-election.

GOP Second Thoughts

Since the President's heart attack five weeks ago, it has been widely believed that he would refuse renomination next year. But as his health has improved, a growing number of Republicans seem to be having second thoughts.

"I haven't counted him out yet," said one Eisenhower partisan. "I know he's devoted to his peace program and he would like to be sure it's carried on."

On the Democratic side of the political picture, the party's national chairman, Paul Butler, told a fund-raising dinner in Nashville, Tenn.

Time For Unmasking

"It is time for the two-faced exhibition of the Republican Party to be unmasked and make its program appear what it is—a liberal mask for a reactionary program."

"We need an administration that means what it says and says what it means," Butler said.

Butler was introduced by Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement, mentioned as a Democratic vice presidential possibility. Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who is expected to seek the party's presidential nomination, and Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) also attended.

No Cabinet Split On Farm Policy, Benson Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson took the farm problem to the people today.

He flew to Moorhead, Minn., center of a big wheat, corn, and hog area, to make a vigorous defense of his farm policies before a farmer audience at a Chamber of Commerce dinner tonight. Much criticism of the farm program has come from the corn belt area.

Before he left Washington, Benson in an unusual gesture Thursday called in press association reporters in an attempt to scotch reports that some cabinet members were after his scalp. He said flatly there is "no split in the cabinet" over farm policy.

The White House immediately backed him up. Assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder also denied there is a cabinet split. He said in a statement that "the entire administration is working toward the objective of assuring the nation's farmers a fair share of America's prosperity."

"I'd like to set the record straight," Benson told the reporters.

He said the Oct. 7 cabinet meeting had on the agenda a "full and frank discussion" of the farm problem "at my suggestion."

He said he discussed the farm situation for 45 minutes and "then there was a free and frank discussion as we always do in the cabinet. Everyone spoke without fear."

Killed in Fall

MADISON, Ill. (AP)—A 56-year-old East St. Louis sheet metal worker was killed Thursday in a 24-foot fall. William T. Eckman fell from the roof of the West Madison Memorial Center here after apparently losing his balance.

Angleton and two Shawneetown girls, Dianne Rigby and Mary Jo McGrew, were treated for scratches and cuts at Ferrell hospital in Eldorado. Another youth, whose name was not learned, was not treated.

Angleton told Alexander that he came up fast on two cars ahead of him at the bridge and swerved to the left. He lost control and the smashup resulted.

Hurt on Route 45 were Mr. and Mrs. William Riley of Moorehouse, Mo. Alexander said the two were traveling north on the highway when he lost control of the machine around 2:45 a. m. and turned over. Mrs. Riley suffered a severe cut on the face. He had a collar bone injury.

Defense Dep't to Draft 416 Physicians, Dentists Early in '56

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Thursday it will resort to the doctors draft in early 1956 for the first time in nearly a year to obtain 416 physicians and dentists.

The Defense Department last invoked the doctors draft a year ago this month when it asked selective service to provide 1,275 physicians and 459 dentists. They entered service last April.

Officials said the new call was necessary to make up the difference between anticipated volunteers and the number of physicians and dentists receiving discharges.

West Proposal Includes Buffer Zone

Soviets Seek 50-Year European Security Treaty

GENEVA (AP)—The West and Russia today handed to each other rival "peace packages" that showed them still hopelessly far apart on how to end the cold war.

The peace offers were contained in Western and Soviet draft security treaties put forward at the second plenary session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

The West's package called for a "treaty of assurance" against aggression for an indefinite period of time. But it was made conditional on Soviet agreement to all-German elections and German unity in 1956.

Includes Buffer Zone

The Soviets proposed, in turn, a 50-year European collective security treaty that would include the United States, with Red China as an observer. But it offered no prospect of early German unity.

It called for scrapping of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Western European Union alliances, as well as complete neutralization of Europe.

The West's nine-point plan included a buffer control zone across Europe, such as was previously proposed by British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

The draft did not specify what nations would be included in the security guarantees. But high Western sources disclosed that the United States, Great Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and a unified Germany were envisaged as the charter members.

Radar Warning Network

Among its features was a proposal that Russia should run a radar warning network inside Western territory. Similarly, the West would operate a similar network inside Eastern Europe. The distances probably would run about 100 to 150 miles on each side of the Iron Curtain.

British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan put forward the treaty in a major declaration in behalf of the West. A procedural filibuster by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov had upheld its publication Thursday night.

Molotov had maneuvered the delay apparently until he could ready a rival document of his own to be presented today.

The Big Four sat down to talk European treaties against the background of a looming threat of a new shooting war between Arabs and Jews in the Middle East.

An Israeli raid on Egypt, in which both sides claimed a number of casualties inflicted on the other, brought an urgent hour-long meeting between MacMillan and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Western officials said the United States, Britain and France would reassure Israel that it would be protected against aggression under the terms of the three-power 1950 declaration on the stability of the Middle East. This probably was considered by Dulles and MacMillan at their pre-conference meeting this morning.

Auto Overturns Into Creek; Second Mishap

Two area auto mishaps, one in which four teen-agers miraculously escaped death or serious injury, occurred during the night. State Policeman Guthrie Alexander reported today.

The incident involving two boys and two girls, all 16, occurred on Route 13 at the North Fork bridge near Equality, where the auto overturned and smashed into the creek 30 or 40 feet below. The other smashup occurred on Route 45 near Ledford, where a man and his wife were injured.

Alexander said the Route 13 drop into the creek occurred about 9:30 p. m. He said a car driven by Nolan Angleton, 16, of Junction, traveling east on the highway, went through a guard rail, turned over on its side and continued on down to the bottom of the creek, where the auto was demolished.

Angleton and two Shawneetown girls, Dianne Rigby and Mary Jo McGrew, were treated for scratches and cuts at Ferrell hospital in Eldorado. Another youth, whose name was not learned, was not treated.

Angleton told Alexander that he came up fast on two cars ahead of him at the bridge and swerved to the left. He lost control and the smashup resulted.

Warren—Content In Court

Editorial By Bruce Blossat

Since early this year, Chief Justice Earl Warren has made no new statement indicating his desire to remain on the Supreme Court rather than seek the presidency. But there can be little doubt he feels the same.

To Warren his present job is the "most important in the world." He was exceedingly happy when he got it, and anyone who knows Warren's nature can be sure he is not simply rationalizing disappointment at not having gained the White House.
The truth is, of course, that Warren never did burn with intense ambition for the presidency. Most of the time when he allowed his name to be presented as a California favorite son, he made no effort outside that state. In 1952 he did campaign in Wisconsin's primary, but that was about it.

It should not be thought from this that he had no ambition for the White House at all. He was a highly successful three-term governor of a great state. Men of such accomplishments seldom are content to rest on their laurels.
He acknowledged he was looking beyond for new challenges.

Three years ago he saw quite realistically the hold Mr. Eisenhower had on the American people. By a normal figuring, this probably meant two terms in the presidency. Warren felt that when this time was up his age would then be a bar.

So when he accepted the high court post, he did it with the idea he was turning to a wholly new field for fulfillment. Having made the decision, he could not see the wisdom or rightness of ever going back to politics.

In fact, his conception of the Supreme Court's role in American life is so high-minded that he is passionately devoted to keeping it out of politics. He clearly does not believe it should be employed as a steppingstone to the White House, nor in any way sacrifice its independence as a separate branch of the federal government.

Americans must applaud this dedication, especially since the court had been badly mired in politics and dissension before Warren's coming to the bench. By the testimony of his colleagues and the law experts, Warren has been a resounding success as Chief Justice.

But many will feel regret if he never reaches the White House, for they see him as a man in whom integrity, high ideals and practical political mastery are remarkably blended. He is the living proof that some of our best qualified men do not gain the presidency.

OUT OUR WAY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
There's More News Confusion
And Secrecy In Washington
Than In Last Quarter Century; MacArthur's Denial And Hul-labalo Over Senatorial Planes Befuddles Public; Senator Chavez Encourages Wives To Travel.

WASHINGTON. — One of the hardest jobs for a newspaperman in Washington today is to find out the truth. This has long been the case among politicians. But today when denials, counter-denials, official statements, and off-the-record press conferences are the standard technique of the present administration, it is even more difficult.

The result is to put the reading public in a maze of confusion and destroy confidence both in the press and in government officials.
In the past week, for instance, the public has been confused by conflicting statements by the Defense Department that three senators did and then did not order two push pressurized airplanes to bring them home from Europe; also by documentary proof issued by the Pentagon that General Mac-Arthur had definitely favored entry of Russia into the war against Japan, followed by an indignant denial by MacArthur.

One reason for all this is a deliberate attempt by some to deceive the public. A high official gets caught in an embarrassing position and he issues a denial. If he issues it with enough vigor and if friendly newspapers give it enough prominence, he figures part of the public will believe it. General MacArthur was in this position last week.

Another reason for the confusion is the difficulty of checking news stories in this administration in which there is more secrecy than at any time in a quarter of a century — even during World War II.

IRON CURTAIN OVER DENVER
When President Eisenhower was stricken, for instance, the iron curtain really clamped down over everything pertaining to him.
Even when newsmen in Denver made an arrangement to get a friendly human-interest story from like's nurse it was abruptly canceled by press secretary Hagerty.

At an Army hospital there is the tightest possible restriction on information, and some of the details regarding the President have come not from Denver but from Dr. Paul D. White's office in Boston—much to the consternation of press secretary Jim Hagerty.

One denial technique is to pick out one or two details in a news story and deny them in an attempt to discredit the entirety. Immediately after the President's illness I reported that Secretary Dulles had conferred with Vice President Nixon at the home of acting attorney general Rogers. This was in error. I later found that Dulles had not been present in person, and that his conference with Nixon was done by telephone. This detail has been used in part by certain issuers of denials to discredit my far more important account of Nixon's desire to become acting president during Eisenhower's illness.

So that the reading public will know how these denials and counter-denials operate, let's take a look at what happened backstage when the recent hullabaloo over the two special airplanes requested for the three senators broke over the news horizon. The story was first written by Jim Lucas, highly competent writer for the Scripps-Howard newspapers, who, while in Europe, secured a copy of a cable asking for the two planes.

He sent the cable to his office in Washington for checking, and it, in turn, received an admission from assistant secretary of defense Robert T. Ross, in charge of keeping Congress happy, that the planes had been requested and were being sent. He added that the request had come from Maj.
Gen. Robert Moore, the Pentagon chaperon or escort officer accompanying the senators and also in charge of keeping them happy.

His confirmation was complete justification for the Jim Lucas story, published in all Scripps-Howard newspapers and later substantiated by an official statement from the Defense Department.

CONGRESSIONAL PET
However, there were some backstage factors in the picture. One is the fact that General Moore, the Pentagon chaperon accompanying the senators, enjoys such chummy relations with them that there is little they won't do for him or he for them.

Moore is attached to the Senate Appropriations committee and its members actually jumped Moore from the rank of colonel to major general — by law. Ordinarily an Army officer is promoted by the President. But the Senate Appropriations committee has become so fond of Moore that its members wrote into the Army Appropriations Act a provision that he be a major general. Not even like himself could change this.

So General Moore, touring Europe with these senators, was an eager, heavier to do something for the subcommittee on appropriations. This is a desire, shared incidentally by the entire Pentagon which realizes that the Senat e Appropriations committee has as much if not more power over the Army, Navy, and Air Force, than the commander-in-chief in the White House.

WHO ORDERED THOSE PLANES
This desire to provide special planes or apologies to the subcommittee which votes the appropriations makes it difficult to tell exactly what the true facts were about who ordered what planes.

However, the following facts have been checked backward and forward and are believed to be accurate.

Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, chairman of the junketing subcommittee, is a good senator who should have joined the Marines.
He just loves to travel. He enjoys it so much that he encouraged every escort officer of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, going with the junketing senators, to bring his wife along to Europe,

Africa and Asia. General Moore, listening to Chavez' advice, brought his secretary, though, following the hullabaloo over the planes, they are coming home on the SS America—also at the taxpayers' expense.

The real record of what happened in Europe points to Senator Chavez as the chief culprit in ordering the plush pressurized special planes.

For when Col. Ralph Watson, one of the escort officers with the senators in Europe, got word from Washington that no planes were available for three or four days to bring the senators home, he contacted Senator McClellan of Arkansas. McClellan replied that he could not wait but would go home by commercial plane.

Colonel Watson didn't bother to talk to Senator Stennis of Mississippi, but notified Senator Chavez, then in Rome, of the situation. He got word from Chavez that the plan to bring the senators home at a later date was unacceptable.

It was after this that Colonel Watson, with the approval of General Moore, promoted by law by these same senators over the head of the White House, cabled the Defense Department that the two special planes must be dispatched promptly. It was following all this that the Defense Department, ever mindful of the money-voting power of Congress, humbly ate crow and apologized.

A-Energy Will Remake Universe: Van Zandt

bread and other foods stay fresh for months without freezing. With in five to 10 years, he said, food packages will be available where radiation has made decomposition impossible.

Soil fertility has been provided through cobalt dust, he said, which restores grass to dry areas and will prevent erosion.

Explains Process

The tremendous possibilities also will be made available to industry which even now is in the revolutionary process of retooling for use of atomic energy, Rep. Van Zandt stated.

He told how atomic energy is produced from the uranium. He displayed a sample of pitch blend which is one of the minerals from which uranium is produced.

He told how the raw earth is liquified, turned into concentrate and then into metal.

Uranium is being found all over the world and in the U. S. there are now 80 mines employing 4,600 miners producing uranium. In 1948 there were only 15 mines employing 50 men.

The U. S. buys uranium ore for $450 a pound, the concentrate for $12 a pound and metal for $20 a pound. No one is permitted to own uranium metal, except the government, he said.

Theory of A Bomb

The uranium metal is changed from the cold stage to a hot stage in atomic piles, he said. The uranium is baked for days in the center of the pile, which is surrounded by radiation resistant graphite and the uranium block is enclosed in metal.

The theory of the a-bomb, he said, is a large sized bomb containing hot uranium about the size of a plum, surrounded by a load of TNT. The TNT, when ignited, forced a tremendous squeeze on the uranium until it bursts.

The first atomic blast was about five tons of TNT, then 100 tons of TNT. These are now obsolete and the H-bomb, using the atomic bomb as the squeeze, has a force of from 15 to 25 million tons of TNT.

He told of the H-bomb blast in the Pacific last year which blew up an entire island and left a crater in the ocean.

He told of the military weapons now available to the armed forces whereby they are equipped to prosecute an atomic war.

More Funds For Peace Purposes

The atom first had to be built for the military, Rep. Van Zandt stated, in a race to beat the Germans first and then the Russians to that weapon. Billions of dollars have been poured into this effort but now part of the money is being used for peacetime purposes and more and more money will be used each year for peacetime uses of atomic energy.

The heat from a pound of uranium is equivalent to 1500 tons of coal, Rep. Van Zandt stated.

The Congressman was introduced by Congressman Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort and was greeted at the meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shindler, who were friends of Rep. Van Zandt at Altoona, Pa. Mr. Schindler at present is manager of the Kresge store here.

Invocation was by Rev. W. E. Hanagan of Eldorado. President G. H. Mugge stated the next dinner club meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 17, at which time Capt. Jose Guzman, Baldivieso will be the guest speaker.

Egypt has four separate judicial systems.

REV. PAUL HOLTZELAW of Mount Erie, Ill., will be the evangelist for a revival which begins Sunday, Oct. 30, at the Church of the Nazarene in Harrisburg where Rev. Charles Scott is pastor. The revival will continue through Nov. 13 at 7 p. m. daily and special music will be heard each evening. Mr. Holtzelaw attended Olivet Nazarene college in Kankakee where he majored in theology. He was pastored at Oakwood and Fairfield and during the second World War, when he served in the quartermaster division of the United States Army, he had the privilege of preaching both here in the United States and abroad. The public is invited to attend these services.

Stratton Nearly Lets Slip He Will Be Candidate

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton today was on record — at least part way — as a candidate for re-election.

He said if he does not enter a campaign for re-election he will underscore his much-criticized toll road program as "the greatest single achievement" of his administration.

Stratton slipped in an almost solid acknowledgment of his intention to seek another term as governor Thursday at a news conference, where he spent almost an hour defending the 415-million-dollar toll road program.

Reporters asked the governor about reports the Democrats intend to make toll roads a major issue in 1956.

"They can't avoid making them an issue, because I'm making them an issue," he said.

He quickly caught himself, however. "It looks like I've almost said something I don't want to say," he added, and then changed the statement: "In the event I am a candidate, I am making toll roads an issue."

The governor also struck back at critics of his appointment of David H. Ratner of Hayes Freight Lines Inc. to a toll road advisory committee. The freight firm has the largest record of truck over-weight violations of any in the state.

Ratner is a very able man to represent trucking interests, the governor said.

Stratton also said: "There was no need to 'improve' on an answer given by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to rumors of a 'deal' between them to insure Stratton's re-election. Daley denied the rumors in strong language earlier this week."

He will oppose any federal highway program which will mean increased federal taxes for the motorist.

Agree to Pay Hike For Rail Road, Yard Engineers

CHICAGO — The Association of Western Railways announced today that representatives of the nation's railroads and the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers agreed today upon varying wage increases for road and yard engineers.

The agreement ended negotiations which began here June 27, continuing daily except for week-ends until the agreement was reached today after an all-night session.

The agreements covers Class I railroads from coast to coast. The association said the agreement calls for a general wage increase of 5 per cent in the average basic daily rates of locomotive engineers, with an additional 2 per cent increase "as an adjustment of differential inequities between locomotive engineers and employees in other classes of railroad service."

The increases are retroactive to Oct. 1. Part of the increase is in lieu of a health and welfare plan, the association said. It said that if the Brotherhood secures a health and welfare plan on individual railroads financed by the carrier, the agreement provides that the railroad will be credited with 4 cents an hour.

The settlement establishes a five-day week for yard engineers, if it is requested, the association said. The association said Interstate Commerce Commission statistics show that 48,000 locomotive engineers are affected by the agreement. No figures were available on the cost to the railroads.

Princess, Captain To Spend Second Week End Together

LONDON — Princess Margaret and Group Captain Peter Townsend went to a country retreat today for their second weekend together in their flowering romance. The princess and the pilot, divorced father of two, left London separately and drove to the home of Lord Rupert Nevill in the Sussex hills outside the city.

The weekend before last they had been guests of Mrs. John Wills, Margaret's cousin and confidante, at the Wills country estate in Windsor.

Margaret spent last weekend at Windsor Castle with Queen Elizabeth II.

The Queen also left London today, to spend the weekend in Scotland.

A Church of England publication called on the nation to pray for Margaret whose obvious heartache and indecision over Townsend was causing a growing split among the public and the press.

Elks Halloween Dance Saturday Night

"Halloween Hi-Jinks," the most popular dance of the year, will be held this Saturday night for Elks and their ladies at the Elks lodge on North Vine street, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

The dance committee has been working hard to provide unusual decorations for the affair, and Elks and their ladies are promised the time of their lives at the dance, with music by the fine Louis Dale orchestra from Carbondale.

Those planning to attend are reminded that a costume is required for admission to the dance, as in previous years.

Polio Season Mildest in Years

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Public Health Service announced today that it expects the 1955 polio season to be one of the mildest in years.

In its first official assessment, the service estimated the total number of polio cases for this year at 29,000 and the number of deaths at about 800.

The case rate will be lowest since 1951 when 28,386 cases were recorded. The number of deaths is expected to be the lowest since 1947 when there were only 580.

There have been 25,727 polio cases since Jan. 1 and approximately 3,300 more are expected to be reported by the end of the year.

Truckers Warned Turn Signals, Rear Splash Guards Needed

SPRINGFIELD — State Police Chief Philo M. Brown today warned that all trucks must be equipped with turn signals and rear fender splash guards by Nov. 15.

The new safety equipment is required under laws enacted by the 1955 Legislature, Brown said. He also served notice to truck drivers that truck speed limit laws would be rigidly enforced. Truck speed limits, must be "reasonable and proper," and may not exceed 45 miles per hour.

Promising Clue In Slaying of Three Boys Fades

CHICAGO —Hopes for a quick capture of the wanton slayers of three young boys dropped today when the victims' parents collapsed another promising clue.

Police had hoped the trail was getting warmer when they discovered an abandoned car containing three pairs of blue jeans and a flannel shirt.

The clothing was similar to garments worn by Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11, when they were sadistically murdered last Oct. 16 on Chicago's Northwest Side.

But the parents sadly told police early today that the clothing did not belong to their sons.

Seek Former Mental Patient

Officers retained some hope in the fact that the car matched the description of a battered, blue auto which was seen in the area shortly before the boys' naked, mutilated bodies were found stacked in a forest preserve ditch Oct. 18.

They traced the car's ownership through license plates to John Svehla, 35, an ex-mental patient who disappeared from his home several weeks ago. A search was launched for Svehla.

Another line of investigation concentrated on fragments of a linen shirt which were found 150 feet from the place where the bodies were dumped.

The shirt bore the laundry mark Bann-4 and the Chicago Sun-Times said its investigation showed the garment may have come from a 15-year-old reformatory inmate.

Search Old Buildings

The widespread search for more clues continued today, with 200 county police searching abandoned shacks and suspicious buildings outside the city limit. Sheriff Joseph Lohman, who ordered the dragnet, said the hunt would start at Robinson's Woods, where the bodies were found, and work west.

Pork Purchase Plan to Begin Nov. 7

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's pork purchase program will get underway Nov. 7, the Agriculture Department said today.

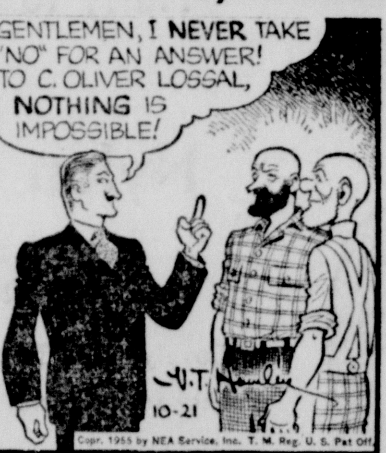

The program calls for spending about 85 million dollars for some 170 million pounds of pork products and about 30 million pounds of lard. It is designed to jack up sagging hog prices. It will extend through August, 1956.

The department invited processors to submit first offers for lard and three canned products—lunch meat, pork and gravy, and ham. The products will be moved directly into consumption through the school lunch program and relief and welfare outlets.

Godfrey Fires Lu Ann Simms; May Face Legal Action

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey, the hot-tempered emcee of the airwaves, may be heading for a legal tangle as the result of his firing of singer Lu Ann Simms.

Miss Simms' husband, song publisher Loring Buzzell, said today his wife's contract with CBS was being studied to determine whether Godfrey had violated his pact with the singer.

"We should know by Monday or Tuesday whether we intend to take action," said Buzzell. "My father, Samuel Buzzell, who's an attorney, is looking over the contract right now."

Miss Simms, a former record shop salesgirl from Rochester, N. Y., Thursday became the 20th member of the Godfrey family to get the ax. She was the fourth Godfreyite to be ousted this week. The others, all given the sack on Tuesday, were producer Larry Puck, conductor Jerry Bresler and announcer George Bryan.

Miss Simms, with Godfrey for two years, was granted a maternity leave last spring from the Godfrey cast. She gave birth to a daughter, Cynthia Leigh, on Sept. 11. During her absence, she received the basic minimum in her CBS contract—$350 a week.

Three Evansville Men Sentenced For FHA Frauds

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Three Evansville men were imprisoned today on charges of attempting to defraud the Federal Housing Administration.

The three were sentenced Thursday by Federal Judge William Steckler on charges stemming from an investigation into possible FHA frauds by Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.).

Seymour S. Cutler, owner of a home improvement company, was sentenced to a four-year term, with one year suspended. Two of his salesmen, John A. Rosenfeld and Raymond Wagner, drew two-year and one-year terms, respectively.

A grand jury indicted the three, along with two Peoria, Ill., men who were found innocent at a trial in March. They were accused of promising cash bonuses to home owners who purchased siding, in return, the owners were to let their homes be used as models for prospective siding buyers.

Steckler said it was his duty to impose the sentences to deter others from undermining the FHA by loose business practices.

Soviets Present Russian Pianist at Diplomatic Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians flashed their best post-Geneva smiles Thursday night in presenting Soviet pianist Emil Gilels to the Washington diplomatic corps at a swank embassy reception.

Gilels, the first Russian pianist under the Communist regime to appear in the United States since 1921, gave a 40-minute recital which was applauded enthusiastically. He was called back for four encores.

The black tie affair was the first formal reception of its type given by the Soviet embassy since the onset of the cold war. The Russians' annual parties celebrating the Communist revolution are afternoon affairs.

Justice and Mrs. William O. Douglas, recent visitors to Russia, and State Department Chief of Protocol John F. Simmons were among the approximately 150 guests. But the receptions drew many ambassadors including those of Sweden, Finland, the Netherlands, India and several from Latin American countries.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was invited but was in New York to receive an award and unable to attend.

Russia Loses UN Attempt for Disarmament Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia lost an attempt today to force an immediate United Nations disarmament debate without awaiting results of the Geneva foreign ministers' discussion.

The General Assembly's main political committee brushed aside the Soviet demand for an arms debate and adopted by a 49-5 vote with 2 abstentions, a Colombian proposal that it should take up next the subject of atomic radiation. It then adjourned until Monday morning.

The political committee, without a dissenting vote on a 53-0 roll call, Thursday night adopted an 18-country resolution on arrangements for establishing an international agency to govern the atoms-for-peace program.

Flood Waters Close Mt. Ranier Park

By United Press
Flood waters closed Mount Ranier National Park today and covered 2,000 acres of low-lying farmlands in the state of Washington. Meanwhile, cool air rolled over the Great Plains with winds up to 45 miles per hour and Indian summer held sway in the East.

The Washington floods poured from a rip in a 150-foot dike in a freshwater slough near Mount Vernon. Crop damage was estimated in the thousands of dollars, but the flood danger appeared to be easing today.

Mount Ranier Park officials said tourists would be barred from the park this weekend because of the washout of Glacier bridge below the Nisqually glacier.

Football Attendance Shows Increase; Biggest Gain in Rocky Mountains

NEW YORK (AP)—College football attendance has shown an increase of 4.4 per cent so far this season with the biggest gains being registered in the Rocky Mountains and the Southwest, the United Press annual mid-season survey revealed today.

Tabulations of home crowds from 109 colleges showed a total of 7,263,475 fans have attended 297 games so far this year as compared with 6,957,435 fans who witnessed the identical number of home games a year ago.

Every section of the country showed an increase except the East and the Midlands.

In the East, where heavy rains that reached flood proportions threw something of a damper on college football, attendance was off by 18.0 per cent, while the Midlands showed a decrease of 5.2 per cent.

Spectacular Rockies Increase
In the Rockies, where attendance showed a spectacular 17.6 increase in 1954, the crowds have kept growing larger so that there is an 18.0 increase so far this season over last year. The Southwest, which was also up 12.3 last year, continues upward so far this season with an increase of 16.6 over last year's attendance.

This year's overall increase in attendance so far is slightly less than the overall increase of 6.2 percent registered in 1954 but it maintains a trend that began with the NCAA's controlled television policy which was introduced in '53.

With unlimited TV in 1950, attendance was off 6.3 that year, but since then it has climbed slightly but consistently, with the exception of 1952 when it was down by only .69 of one per cent.

The average crowd per game this year has been 24,460 as against the average crowd of 23,126 a year ago.

Next to the Rocky Mountains and the Southwest, the West has howed the largest attendance gain so far this season with an increase of 10.8. The South is next in line with an increase of 10.7, followed by the Midwest which shows an upswing of 7.0 per cent.

Michigan At Top
Michigan, the No. 1 team in the United Press coaches' ratings, also is at the top in home attendance, having played before 328,012 fans in four home games this season. In the same number of home games last season, the Wolverines played before 254,001 fans, in four home games this season.

In the same number of home games last season, the Wolverines played before 254,001 fans.

The Midwest qualifies as the current "hotbed" of football with the highest attendance total up to now. A total of 1,955,561 fans have witnessed 46 games in the Midwest while the South is second in total attendance with 1,688,647 for 75 games and the West third with 1,060,575.

The sectional leaders, in addition to Michigan, are West Virginia in the East with 100,400 fans at four home games; Miami, Fla. in the South with 162,093 fans at three games; Oklahoma in the Midlands with 159,000 in three games; Texas in the Southwest with 198,000 in four games; Utah in the Rocky Mountains with 71,542 in three games, and Southern California in the West with 219,679 in four games.

Expect Australian Tennis Star to Reject Pro Offer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Lew Hoad, 20-year-old Australian Davis Cup star, was expected today to reject promoter Jack Kramer's $56,250 offer to quit the amateur ranks for a professional tour.

Hoad said Thursday that Kramer, who flew here to reopen negotiations after the Aussie's first "no," had boosted his offer by 5,000 pounds but indicated he still would turn it down.

"I'll not decide without talking to my wife," Hoad said. "But I think she'll still be against the idea of my turning professional."

Clemson, Wake Forest Fined for Violating Conference Rules

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Commissioner James H. Weaver of the Atlantic Coast Conference announced today that the conference had fined Clemson and Wake Forest $250 for violating ACC rules.

Clemson was fined $500 for unsportsmanlike conduct in connection with a fight between Clemson and Georgia football players and Wake Forest $250 for violating rules governing relationships between coaches and conference officials, Weaver announced.

Weaver denied a published rumor that South Carolina had been fined for football "recruiting irregularities."

Alston Named National League Manager of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Alston, the silent man who touched off the noisiest celebration in Brooklyn since the end of World War II, was named by the United Press today as the National League Manager of the Year.

Alston, who directed the Dodgers to a pennant in record time and went on to lead them to their first World Series triumph after seven previous futile tries, drew the honor in a vote of 54 baseball writers from the league's eight cities.

Alston received 36 votes to win by a comfortable margin over Mayo Smith, the Frenchman manager of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Who brought them to a fourth place finish after early season travail, Smith received 13 votes. Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati and deceased Leo Durocher of the New York Giants received two votes each while Fred Haney of the Pittsburgh Pirates, another departing pilot, picked up one.

Irish-Navy, Four Big Ten Games Share Spotlight

CHICAGO (AP)—Unbeaten Navy, ranked fourth among the nation's football teams and among the leaders in offense and defense, still was a touchdown up, dinged today against seventh-ranked Notre Dame for Saturday's meeting in the Irish stadium in the Midwest's top game.

Four Big Ten contests were on the program to share the spotlight with Michigan, unbeaten in five games, entertaining Iowa, Michigan State at Wisconsin, Northwestern at Ohio State and Purdue at Illinois.

In other contests Minnesota entertains Southern California and Ohio University plays at Indiana.

Navy Tops on Defense
The Middies were classed as the sixth best team in the country on offense and the best on defense, allowing their five opponents only 119.6 yards per game. Navy, with a nine-game winning streak, has been scored on twice.

Notre Dame was classed among nation's best in only one division of statistics, rushing, where the Irish have pounded out 260 yards a game while whipping four opponents and losing only to Michigan State. Navy has allowed its opponents only 78 yards a game on the ground.

Tradition rode with the Irish. Notre Dame has won 23 games from Michigan and lost only four.

Michigan, leading the Big Ten with three straight victories, was an eight-point favorite over the Hawkeyes, whom the Wolverines have beaten by 14-13 tallies for the past two seasons. This tussle will be the national television game of the week on the NBC network.

Ohio State Gets Nod
Ohio State, though beaten twice in non-conference games, has won both of its Big Ten matches over Illinois and Wisconsin and rated as a 14-point choice over Northwestern, winless in five starts including three conference games.

Michigan State, defeated only by Michigan in five starts, and Wisconsin, losers to Southern California and the Buckeyes, will settle undisputed third place in their battle. The Spartans were a touchdown favorite. Each club has won two and lost one in conference play.

The Purdue-Illinois battle was rated even. The Illini, in addition to the loss to Ohio State, also dropped a game to Michigan State, while Purdue was beaten by Wisconsin and tied by Iowa.

Minnesota, victor only over Northwestern in five games, was a 13-point underdog to the Trojans, while Indiana was a five-touchdown choice over Ohio U.

Baseball World Mourns Death of 'Old Fox' Clark Griffith, 85, Owner of Washington Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bereaved baseball world today mourned the death of one of the last of its elder statesmen—Clark Griffith, owner, president of the Washington Senators and co-founder of the American league.

Death came quietly to the 85-year-old Griffith. His personal physician, Dr. George A. Resta, said the beloved "Old Fox" of baseball died in his sleep at 9:40 p. m., EDT Thursday night.

For five days Griffith had waged an up-and-down fight against a massive stomach hemorrhage and other complications. Doctors despaired of his life last Sunday, but he rallied and told his family on Wednesday that he intended to be out of the hospital by Nov. 20—his 86th birthday.

But Griffith's gallant heart finally gave out.

Only his son, Calvin, and Resta were at the bedside when the end came. Other members of the family had not kept a constant vigil because Griffith had appeared to be improving.

Hospitalized Oct. 19
Griffith was hospitalized Oct. 19 for treatment of neuritis. Three days later he was stricken with a massive stomach hemorrhage. Then he developed lung congestion and doctors feared he was near death.

But he rallied, only to suffer a relapse and die.

Griffith's death removed from the active baseball scene the last of the game's great big league pioneers. It marked the end of an era and a fabulous career that was dedicated completely to the national pastime.

He devoted 69 of his nearly 88 years to baseball—as a pitcher, manager, owner and unofficial "goodwill ambassador" for the game.

It was he who brought baseball into the White House and who personally intervened with two presidents—Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt—to win a "green light" for baseball during the two world wars. And it was Griffith who not only brought presidents out to the ball game, but persuaded them to throw out the ceremonial first ball—a custom he inaugurated with William Howard Taft.

Griffith died before he could fulfill his greatest yearning—just one more pennant for his Senators, who finished last in 1955. Washington has not won a pennant since the second of Griffith's two "boy wonder" managers—Joe Cronin—piloted the team to the American league championship in 1923. Griffith's original "boy wonder" manager—Bucky Harris—masterminded the Senators to their first pennant and world championship in 1924 and a second successive American league pennant in 1925.

Record Cash Trade
Griffith was one of baseball's shrewdest traders. His biggest deal—which still stands as a record cash transaction for one player—came in 1934 when he sold his son-in-law Joe Cronin to the Boston Red Sox for $250,000 cash and one player.

Although famed as a trader and owner, Griffith is immortalized in baseball's "Hall of Fame" at Cooperstown, N. Y., for his pitching greatness.

Griffith, who broke into organized baseball in Bloomington, Ill., at the age of 17, went on to establish a pitching record which ranks him among the 12 top major league pitchers of all time.

In 17 full seasons of big league pitching, starting in 1891, he won 237 games and lost 149.

All-Star Team Favored by Late Clark Griffith

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Clark Griffith, who watched the best in baseball come and go during 69 years in the game, picked this all-time all star team for the United Press several months before his death:

First base: The late Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees. "George Sisler was faster and a better fielder," Griffith said, "but I give the edge to Gehrig because of his all-around value, especially driving in runs."

Second base: Larry Lajoie, the old-time Cleveland star by a slight margin over Rogers Hornsby.

Shortstop: Honus Wagner of the Pittsburgh Pirates. "Easily the greatest shortstop of all," Griffith said.

Third base: Pie Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates. "But Home Run Baker gives him a close fight for the honor."

Outfield: Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, and Babe Ruth. "It's awfully hard to leave out Ted Williams and Joe Dimaggio," Griffith explained, "but Cobb, Speaker and Ruth are the greatest of all."

Catcher: Bill Dickey of the Yankees and Mickey Cochrane of the Philadelphia Athletics. "The two best catchers and I wouldn't pick one over the other."

Pitchers: Walter Johnson of Washington, Christy Mathewson of the Giants, Grover Alexander of the St. Louis Cardinals, Carl Hubbell of the Giants and Lefty Grove of the Athletics. "Johnson and Mathewson were the two greatest pitchers," Griffith said, "but Johnson was the champion of them all. He was the powerhouse, Hubbell and Grove were the greatest left-handers of all."

Manager: "Connie Mack was the greatest of all," Griffith said. "He's my choice, not just for sentimental reasons, but on his own merit. He developed a lot of great ball players and great ball clubs."

The 1927 Yankees were Griffith's choice as the greatest team of all times.

The best player?
"The greatest of all, in my opinion," Griffith said, "was Ty Cobb. He had hustle, daring, speed, and a great competitive spirit."

STILL STANDS

File Charges Against 12 Raided Tavern Operators

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—U. S. Dist. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. today filed criminal informations against 12 tavern operators whose places were raided Oct. 5 in a crackdown on pinball machine gambling.

Three other informations were filed previously, and arraignment of all 15 operators was set for Nov. 8 in Federal Court here.

All are charged with failure to pay the $250 federal "occupation" gambling tax on coin-operated gaming devices.

Maximum penalty on conviction on the charge is one year in jail or a $10,000 fine or both.

Treasury agents hit 30 taverns and restaurants in central and southern Illinois in the raid, and Stoddard said "undoubtedly" other informations will be filed.

THE STORY: Three sinister incidents have marred the voyage of the Vittoria, owned by Viggo Sand, into the Caribbean. Now Bertram Lynch and his partner Robert Deane learn they are seeking a cache of gold bullion secreted in Haiti by a Nazi submarine in the closing days of World War II.

XIII
At about four one of the natty sailors sought me out and handed me a folded paper. It was the report on the disappearance of the seaman during the Atlantic crossing which Lynch had demanded from Captain Carey. We went to Lynch's cabin to read it.

The report he had drawn up was clear, crisp, factual. Able Seaman Friedrich Brunke of Stuttgart, Germany, 46 years old, had been assigned to forepeak lookout on the evening of June 16. That station, Carey explained, was not usually occupied but the night was stormy and there was a fog. It was Brunke's duty to report to the bridge before going forward.

When he did not appear the officer of the watch phoned down from the chartroom to inquire what had become of him. It was learned that Brunke had left the crew's quarters some 20 minutes before eight. He had said something to one of his companions about going on deck for a smoke. Friedrich Brunke was never seen again.

He had been with the yacht for four years and was believed to be devoted to Mr. Sand and to Mr. Sand's interests.

Carey admitted frankly that any one of a dozen men might have slipped unnoticed after Brunke, tipped him overboard and then returned to his quarters, with no one being aware of it. There was no evidence, however, that anyone had any trace of motive for such an act.

As to the "ladies and gentlemen" as the Captain described them, only Miss Wyndham, Mr. Braun and Mr. Sand were at dinner below. The Vittoria had been pitching and rolling rather heavily for landmen's taste and the rest had begged off.

Lynch and I regarded each other thoughtfully.

"At least Sand has decided to give us some cooperation."

"How come?"

"I don't imagine Carey would have obligingly written this all out for us without checking first with Sand. If Sand had disapproved it would have given Carey the greatest pleasure to direct us to the devil."

"When you sprung this this morning, was that pure clairvoyance?"

"Not at all! Last night I counted the crew list Carey showed us in his cabin. Since we had taken him by surprise, it was evidently the master list. I then counted the supposed copy he gave me in the lounge this morning. It was one short." That confirmed, I thought, the information we had in London.

All this time Meer, ignored, had been standing in the middle of the room, holding hands with himself, putting them in his pockets, taking them out of his pockets.

"I thought you might be interested," blandly remarked Sand in the understatement of the year, "in knowing something further of our plans. Captain Carey tells me we will reach our destination."

He glanced at a paper-thin, carved gold watch on his big wrist—"in about 50 hours, Herr Meer—" he pointed to the young German without looking at him—"will show you the position on a map."

Stiffly and with a kind of grudging slowness in his movements Meer stepped to a big blond-wood desk in a corner and began to flatten with his hands a roll of stiff white paper which lay on it. Lynch and I joined him and looked over his shoulders.

"A United States Navy Hydrographic Office chart of Haiti," Meer needlessly informed us. "You will, sirs, notice, of the so-called Winward Passage."

Meer put a finger on the northernmost tip of the great west-jutting peninsula of the island.

"This," said the German with an air of cold detachment, "is the Mole St. Nicholas. An anchorage there is here of a great excellency. It is known only to myself."

"Isn't that rather extraordinary?" Lynch inquired.

"It is an extraordinary anchorage!"

With the knuckles of his right hand Meer then tapped the chart, taking in an area of a couple of hundred square miles.

"The cases are here."

"How many?" Lynch barked.

"Twenty," Meer had answered without thinking. He frowned with annoyance, then seemed to decide that the information was not after all of great consequence.

Lynch looked at the ceiling.

"Let's see. That works out at about 220 pounds a case. Allowing for the weight of the chests themselves, say about 250 pounds apiece."

Meer grudgingly nodded.

"Remarkable thing about gold," observed Lynch conversationally. "The average layman is too apt to exaggerate its value. These days when we don't see much of it, many a bank robber makes the mistake of imagining that if he could fill his pockets, he would walk off a millionaire. Fact is, one pound avoirdupois of pure gold is only worth about $615."
